

Take your business off autopilot

Routine keeps a business stable, and then it makes it stale. Growth needs planned time outside what is comfortable.

REMEMBER

- ◆ Feeling stuck is often a sign you have stopped exploring.
- ◆ Your mind resists anything outside the routine. Expect that, and go anyway.
- ◆ Keep the routines that serve you. Schedule the exploration that grows you.

YOUR TURN

What in my business has run the same way for a year or more:

Where my offers or my work feel stale to me:

Something I have been curious to try and keep putting off:

A small experiment I can run in the next 30 days:

When my exploration time happens each month:

THIS WEEK

Block two hours this month for one small experiment with your offer, and tell someone when it is happening.
