

Your customer is the hero. You are the guide.

Your business is not the star of the story. Your customer is. Your role is the guide who helps them win.

REMEMBER

- ◆ People are looking for someone to help with their story, not for another hero.
- ◆ A guide shows two things: I understand what you are facing, and I know the way through.
- ◆ Talk less about your journey and more about theirs.

YOUR TURN

Places where my business is the hero (my story, my awards, my process):

What my customer wants, in their words:

How I show I understand what they are facing:

What gives me the standing to guide them (experience, results, others I have helped):

One page or message rewritten with the customer at the center:

THIS WEEK

Count how many times your home page says "I" or "we" and how many times it says "you." Rewrite one section so "you" wins.
