

How do you know unless you look?

Most business decisions are made by guessing from symptoms. Before you decide what to fix, look at what is actually happening.

REMEMBER

- ◆ A feeling about your business is not the same as a fact about it.
- ◆ Look before you prescribe. The wrong fix costs more than the time it takes to check.
- ◆ What you look at regularly, you can lead. What you never look at leads you.

YOUR TURN

A decision I am about to make based on a feeling:

What I would need to look at to know for certain:

Parts of my business I have not looked at closely in the last 90 days:

The five numbers that tell me the truth about my business:

When and how often I will look at them:

THIS WEEK

Choose one decision you are about to make from a hunch. Look at the real numbers first, then decide.
