

The ad worked. Now what?

Getting attention is only half the job. Before 100 new people come in the door, know exactly how you will follow up and serve them.

REMEMBER

- ◆ Plan the "now what" before you launch.
- ◆ Service runs in a chain: someone serves the owner, the owner serves the team, the team serves the customers.
- ◆ Your capacity sets the size of the promotion, not the other way around.

YOUR TURN

If 100 new people arrived this month, what happens to each one on day one?

In the first week?

In the first month?

Who does each step? (Circle every step where the answer is "me".)

The first place the chain would break at 100 people:

THIS WEEK

Map the first seven days of a new customer in your business, start to finish, and name the one gap you will close.
